

with freedom to roam outdoors during the day, 2018

Billboard 8171, London Bridge, commissioned by Annin Arts

This sentence I read on a free range egg carton had been haunting me for years. How we sing ourselves praises for the tiny freedoms we allow inside the prisons we create...

I fed the pigeons in front of my billboard during the exhibition period to encourage the pigeons to shit on the text and take over the billboard.